1. Read and correct the sentences.

Our campsite routine

This is a beautiful and evergreen morning in this place called Coyhaique, in Chile. My whole class is here to enjoy this weekend campsite with me.

Our Guide Professor, Reginald Ther, is friendly and organized. Every day he explains the rules for that day. There are some activities to do during our stay. We like him a lot. We are happy with him and we always obey the rules.

I share with you some of our morning regular activities. Every day, we get up at seven o'clock and tidy up our tents. Then, we have breakfast at around half past seven. The organizers make breakfast next to a big fire, so we love breakfast time. After that, we brush our teeth and have a bottle of water, and get ready for the following activities: walking and running to the old pine tree to have the morning worship. With Bibles ready in our hands, we sit down quietly and listen to the teacher. Everybody likes to come to Coyhaique!
